

Don't Overcharge for Water Apply Now to Install Meters (Web accessible version)

- Description of visuals : Opening scene shows a flat subdivided into three units
Three units spread out in a straight line
The mother in the left unit is pouring water for her daughter the middle-aged man in the right unit is mopping the floor and the young man in the middle unit is drying his hair
The young man wonders:
- Young Man : Subdivided unit tenants do not receive individual water bills from the Water Supplies Department
- Description of visuals : The shot shows that all tenants look puzzled
The young man asks to the camera:
- Young Man : I'm not sure if the landlord has overcharged me
- Description of visuals : All tenants turn their heads to the right suspiciously at the same time
The scene swiftly changes to another shot showing a landlord spreading his hands with an innocent expression Landlord responds:
- Landlord : I don't mean to overcharge
- Description of visuals : At this moment an animated mascot of the Water Supplies Department
"Water Save Dave"
suddenly pops up behind the landlord who looks surprised Water Save Dave explains to the landlord:
- Water Save Dave : It's illegal for the landlord to recover from tenants' water charges more than those paid to the Water Supplies Department

- Description of visuals : The shot switches to the scene showing the supers “Scheme for Installation of Separate Water Meters for Subdivided Units” “WAIVED”, “Water Fee Deposit”, “Charge for Providing a Meter” Water Save Dave points to the supers happily Water Save Dave continues:
- Water Save Dave : Join the scheme
- Description of visuals : The scene moves to the corridor outside the landlord’s flat
 A plumber just installed three separate water meters for the subdivided units for measuring the water supplies to the units individually
 The landlord and the plumber stand in front of the separate water meters with a smile on their faces
 They then glance at the separate water meters behind them look and nod at each other in agreement.
 Water Save Dave says to the camera:
- Water Save Dave : Install separate water meters for subdivided unit tenants
- Description of visuals : The shot turns to the tenants of the three subdivided units
 The tenants face the camera happily with their hands holding the water bills from the Water Supplies Department Young man says:
- Young Man : With individual water bills
- Description of visuals : The tenants of the three subdivided units including the mother, the young man and the middle-aged man, say together:
- Three tenants : Water charges are “pay-as-you-go”
- Description of visuals : The shot turns to the landlord standing in front of the separate water meters
 He says happily:

- Landlord : Water charges are now clear without disputes
- Description of visuals : The shot turns to the mother and daughter's unit with the super “First 12 m³ of Water are Free at 4 Month Intervals” appears on the screen
The mother is holding a glass of water Mother says to the camera:
- Mother : We can also enjoy a certain amount of free water
- Description of visuals : At the same time the daughter is drinking water beside her mother She then puts down the water glass and smiles in front of the camera
- Description of visuals : End frame shows Water Save Dave appearing from the left of the screen
The slogan
“Don’t Overcharge for Water Apply Now to Install Meters” appears on the top of the screen while the super “Inquiry or Report Hotline: 2824 5000” and the Water Supplies Department logo are shown at the bottom of the screen Water Save Dave appeals to the audience:
- Water Save Dave : For inquiries about the scheme or to report overcharging for water please call the Water Supplies Department hotline
